Dear Ed:

As you are about to leave Government service, I want to take this opportunity to express my very best wishes for a successful future.

I would also like you to know that I fully appreciate that responsibilities to one's family all too often seem to require some of the most competent people to interrupt a career in Government service. You can be proud, however, of the many contributions you have made during your long service in the CIA.

Throughout the many years I have known you I have been impressed by the leadership you have displayed, your high level of competence, your ability to solve a wide variety of difficult and often complicated problems, and the fine way in which you have borne the heavy responsibilities of your work. I am also aware of some of the personal sacrifices you have made in the interest of getting the job done. Your departure will be a real loss to the Agency.

Should you ever consider it useful, I hope you will feel free to use this as an indication of the esteem in which you are held by the CIA and by me.

,		held by the	CIA and by me.
